Table 16.5 Selected Examples of Hormones Produced by Organs Other Than the Major Endocrine Organs

SOURCE	HORMONE	CHEMICAL COMPOSITION	TRIGGER	TARGET ORGAN AND EFFECTS
Adipose tissue	Leptin	Peptide	Secretion proportional to fat stores; increased by nutrient uptake	Brain: suppresses appetite; increases energy expenditure
Adipose tissue	Resistin, adiponectin	Peptides	Secretion proportional to fat stores for resistin, inversely proportional for adiponectin	Fat, muscle, liver: resistin antagonizes insulin's action and adiponectin enhances it
Gastrointestinal (GI) tract mucosa
Stomach	Gastrin	Peptide	Secreted in response to food	Stomach: stimulates glands to release hydrochloric acid (HCl)
Stomach	Ghrelin	Peptide	Secreted in response to fasting	Hypothalamus and pituitary: stimulates food intake and GH release
Duodenum (of small intestine)	Secretin	Peptide	Secreted in response to food	Pancreas and liver: stimulates release of bicarbonate-rich juice Stomach: inhibits secretory activity
Duodenum	Cholecystokinin (CCK)	Peptide	Secreted in response to food	Pancreas: stimulates release of enzyme-rich juice Gallbladder: stimulates expulsion of stored bile Hepatopancreatic sphincter: causes sphincter to relax, allowing bile and pancreatic juice to enter duodenum
Duodenum (and other gut regions)	Incretins [glucose-dependent insulinotropic peptide (GIP) and glucagon-like peptide 1 (GLP-1)]	Peptide	Secreted in response to glucose in intestinal lumen	Pancreas: enhances glucose-dependent release of insulin and inhibition of glucagon release
Heart (atria)	Atrial natriuretic peptide (ANP)	Peptide	Secreted in response to stretching of atria (by rising blood pressure)	Kidney: inhibits sodium ion reabsorption and renin release Adrenal cortex: inhibits secretion of aldosterone; decreases blood pressure
Kidney	Erythropoietin (EPO)	Glycoprotein	Secreted in response to hypoxia	Red bone marrow: stimulates production of red blood cells
Skeleton	Osteocalcin	Peptide	Unknown; insulin promotes its activation	Increases insulin production and insulin sensitivity
Skin (epidermal cells)	Cholecalciferol (provitamin D ₃)	Steroid	Activated by the kidneys to active vitamin D ₃ (calcitriol) in response to parathyroid hormone	Intestine: stimulates active transport of dietary calcium across cell membranes of small intestine
Thymus	Thymulin, thymopoietins, thymosins	Peptides	Unknown	Mostly act locally as paracrine; involved in T lymphocyte development and in immune responses

Clinical anatomy and physiology of the visual system by lee ann remington.

Specialized coverage written by a royal optometrist provides a practical framework for recognizing and understanding μ , problems and treatments. Provides specialized coverage by a practicing optometrist, giving him a practical structure to recognize and understand clinical situations, problems and treatments. Providing the content of ocular anatomy and physiology necessary for a complete understanding of this complex field, Clinical Anatomy and Physiology of the Visual System, 4th Edition, offers a μ basis for the recognition and understanding of specific situation μ s and how they relate to anatomic structure. Covers current μ , as essential genes in ocular development, alters scleral μ , and choroid that occur with progress of myopia, cA μ limbal stem squid, macular degeneration related to age and VEGF therapies, and microinvasive surgical procedures of glaucoma. Management coverage, including changes μ aging of eye tissue and visual pathway, keeps you up to date with the expanding field of managerial care.
